Empowering learners for their future

It's fair to say Week 1 has been productive!

I have thoroughly enjoyed my first week at WPS. It has been fantastic to get to know each of the children's names and begin to learn a little about them as well. I've been a part of footy games, mini Ashes series and dodge ball - so week 2 has a bit to live up to! I have also enjoyed working closely with my new staff and I have had the pleasure of meeting some of the parents too.

This first week I have spent a large amount of time collecting information on literacy and numeracy skills. This has allowed me to plan for and begin to explicitly teach to the needs of each student and provide additional support where necessary. I look forward to showing you the results of our efforts later in the term.

Next week is Education Week, with the theme for 2013 being "Creating the Future". I will provide more information about our open classrooms, barbecues and assembly in our next newsletter.

In other news:

This Friday Kindergarten to Year 6 will head down to the Country Club and present a song and presentation for this year's country of study, Morocco, at the CWA International Day. The students have informed me they have done some research at home last term and this has been complimented by some new learning in our first few weeks.
